

Institute of Genetic Medicine

University of Southern California
Los Angeles, California

Programming, architectural, engineering and interior design services for 12,000 square ft. expansion of the Institute of Genetic Medicine including laboratory and faculty and research offices, conference rooms and student collegial research areas. Included was replacement of the entire building normal and emergency power systems, and HVAC system for the second floor of the Clinical Science Center, addition of a new stair tower within the building and reconstruction and ADA upgrade of the second floor public restrooms.

Institute of Genetic Medicine
University of Southern California
Los Angeles, California

